The BATAVIAN

Published by
The Class of 1927
Batavia Junior-Senior High School

FOREWORD

THIS is the first and only book which we, the class of '27, have edited. We have worked with great diligence to please everyone. In this book we have tried to give you a perfect record of all the activities since the publication of the "Batavian" for 1926. We hope that nothing within these pages will be a source of displeasure, but will rather be taken good-naturedly.

We are especially proud that our book is to be dedicated to our fathers and mothers, and we hope that they too will enjoy it with us.

Dedication

To those who have watched us
from infancy to youth,
who have borne our worries
carried our sorrows served our needs and loved us always
the Class of 1927

If the student establishes a wholesome attitude, sets for himself a worthy aim and gains a forward looking perspective out upon a worthwhile goal or life objective, his education will attain for him many satisfactions.

Marion B. Ward

1898--1926

Teacher in Batavia High School September 1924 to November 1926

She returned to her Alma Mater to repay with interest the nurture she had received. She served with gladness and simplicity. Young in years, she had the ageless sympathy with youth. Ambitious, she kindled the ambitious spark in other lives. Gracious, she instituted graciousness into younger minds. A scholar, she taught the scholar's love of truth and beauty. We dreamed that we should long enjoy these precious gifts but waked to find that God had planned otherwise.

The Log of the Good Ship '27

Being the record of four voyages of discovery of forty weeks each in strange waters at the peril of wind and wave.

September, 1924.
Seaport—B. H. S.
Soundings—Showing shoals.
Latitude—0° Longitude—Worse.
Ships sighted—"The Pirate Craft of '26."

Ship Officers:
Captain—Wallace Stakel.
Stewardess—Catheryn Hale.
Purser—George Young.
First Mate—Alice Bower.

Piloted in under severe fog by Mrs. Douglass and Miss Godfrey.
Two men in quarantine.
Shore leave—Ten weeks.
Crew—Class of '27.

We had a very successful sea fight this year. Our banquet, although it was our first, was enjoyed by all. Two of our best sailors won a ticket-selling contest. The Picnic was a delightful, gala day for us poor tired sailors who seldom saw land.

Given under my hand

Wallace Stakel,
Captain.

September, 1925.
Seaport—S. H. B. in B. H. S.
Soundings—Coral Reefs.
Latitude—21° Longitude—16°.
Ships sighted—Sister ship of '25.

Ship Officers:
Captain—Frederick Wight.
Stewardess—Gladys Goade.
Purser—Aloysius Slovik.
First Mate—Helen Fitzsimmons.

Piloted in safely under the directions of Miss Bryan and Mr. Randall, after weighing anchor for five days because of severe storms.
All passed quarantine.
Shore leave—Nine weeks.
Crew—Class of '27.

Our adventures during this stormy voyage were very distressful and almost proved disastrous; but, with our big, kind-hearted captain and our two faithful pilots we pulled through at last and anchored safely at port. Our first real dance was held in the cabin and it was first rate.

Given under my hand

Frederick Wight,
Captain.

September, 1926.

Seaport—B. H. S.

Soundings—Quicksands.

Latitude—44° Longitude—30°

Ships sighted—Scholarship Board.

Ship Officers:

Captain—Gorge Hodgson.
First Mate—Lloyd Jayne.
Stewardess—Eleanor Homelius.
Purser—Wallace Stakel.

Piloted in under heavy rainfall by Miss Shepard and Mr. Randall.

Quarantine—OKey.

Shore Leave—Eleven weeks.

Crew—Class of '27.

At last we are nearing our goal. We are now Junior Officers. The senior officers (class of '26) are showing us how to manage a ship in deep water, under severe winds, and all the trials of the sea. We will soon take over the command of the ship. It is a rather difficult position being Junior officers. We do the hard work and the senior officers get the credit. We had a more elaborate dance in the dining saloon this year; for, of course as we are older and more experienced seamen, we know better how to stretch our money. The room was prettily decorated in green and white, our colors. It looked like a verdant, grassy glade in the Sunny South instead of the dining saloon of the good ship '27. Now that we are so near the end of our journey, I fear for my crew. They are so young and really inexperienced. But then they still have another voyage in which to learn the lessons of life.

Given under my hand

George Hodgson,
Captain.

1927

September, 1927.

Seaport—S. H. C. in B. H. S.

Soundings—Clear course.

Latitude—90° Longitude—75°.

Ships sighted—Ship of Life.

Ship Officers:

Captain—George Young.
Stewardess—Lucille Eberhart.
Purser—Frederick Wight.
First Mate—Alice Bower.

Piloted in under perfect weather, sunshine with bands playing on deck, and with the assistance of Miss Hunn and Miss Johnson. But what would the senior officers do without Miss Lowe to guide them through their struggles in S. H. C.

All passed Quarantine.

Shore leave—Commencement week.

Our last year at sea! Where shall we all be a few years from now when we compose the huge crew on the ship of life? Our last dance, a very brilliant affair was given on deck in the moonlight early in January. It was a magnificent function well attended and well carried on. The deck was quaintly decorated in green and white (our colors). Oh, how sad to think that we faithful sailors of B. H. S. can no longer sail along her coast nor take anchor in her pleasant harbors! We have completed our services and now must give way to the ship of '28. We have faithfully discharged our duties during our four years aboard ship and are very sorrowful at leaving. Will you remember us, B. H. S.? Will you pray for our success when we are plying the oars of each of our separate ships on the Sea of Life?

Given under my hand

George Young,
Captain.

SHIP AHOY

WE ARE SETTING OUT TO SEA,
TOSSED BY WAVES WE'LL EVER BE STORMS THAT GIVE & STORMS THAT TAKE,
STORMS THAT MAKE & STORMS THAT BREAK.
THAT IS LIFE.
A CHARTERED COURSE WE MUST PURSUE,
IF WE DRIFT 'TWILL NEVER DO.
WINDS BLOW NORTH & WINDS BLOW WEST,
EAST & SOUTH — LIFE IS NOT REST!
SO GOES LIFE.
SO BUILDED IS OUR MODERN SHIP
THAT ITS STRONG PROW CAN ALWAYS DIP
IN WATERS SOMETIMES DRAWING DOWN, AND YET PLOUGH THROUGH SECURE & SOUND.
STRESS IS LIFE.
CALM WATERS WILL SEEM CALMER STILL
EACH TIME THE SHIP HAS COME THROUGH ILL.
SO GOD, OUR PILOT, WATCHING O'ER
MAKES PASSAGE SAFE FOREVER MORE.
HERE'S TO LIFE!

Can It Be True?

CLASS PROPHECY

It was January 1, 1928.

"Come on! You surely aren't afraid to try? I know we'll get to the moon. Why do you suppose I've worked on my Moonoplane ever since I was graduated from B. H.S.? Of course it'll get there! There's no applesauce about it!"

This was Bill Southworth speaking. I was so frightened at the project that, if it hadn't been for the fact that some of my old classmates were standing around, grinning and doubledaring me, I should never have gone. We were going to take Miss Hunn along as chaperon, but we were afraid that if something happened to her, the Senior class at B. H. S. would be like a ship without a rudder. So we started for the moon and—did we get there? Of course we did! Has Bill ever failed us yet?

When we arrived at the moon, our excitement knew no bounds. Bill had accomplished the impossible. And here was The Moon, a world in miniature, Lilliputian in size, yet almost exactly like the one from which we had come. We felt like giants. As soon as our plane landed, we were met by two inhabitants of the planet. Supposin' they didn't speak American slang!

"Ye gods," said Bill, "can you by any chance be Bernard Lenihan and Anthony Vallone?"

"You said it" said Bernard, "but, Great Lewis, what are you doing here?

"Boloney," whispered Anthony, nudging Bernard, "We can't let them stay here. Everyone shrinks to proportionate size here; so, if we let these two little things stay here, they'd be mere atoms of dust by the time they had finished shrinking. Let's tell 'em we'll take 'em to see Ralph Lewis' new bridge. Instead we'll take them back to the earth."

"Yep", said Bernard, "And we'll put on the magic "future" glasses to disillusion them for awhile." And these glasses did the work.

We got into the plane and started off to see Ralph Lewis' bridge. It was a marvelous piece of work stretching all the way across the Atlantic ocean. We found Ralph and he explained that the bridge was built like an iceburg, nine-tenths of it being under water. Ralph was not at all spoiled by his success; in fact, he gave his assistant engineers, among whom were Don Mayer, Pat Didget, William Sherman and Bill Wescott, most of the credit.

Of course we at once resolved to explore this bridge by going to Europe. Ralph led us to a queer looking vehicle which he called an Ottopaddyraymondboyle. Yep, it had been patented by Paddy Boyle himself. Paddy sure does work fast; we arrived at England within an hour.

In London, we wandered into an antique shop. Francis Crehan was the proprietor and was selling radios. He said they were antiques and then showed us what was taking the place of radio. He called it the "mooney" and! wonder of wonders! there was no static. Then I asked a rather silly question. Could the inventor by any chance be James Mooney? Of course!

When we returned to the States, we saw the partnership firm of Libby Adelman and Dave Hannah. They bought old Fords and Buicks at sixty-three cents and auctioned them off at sixty-three dollars. We noticed Don Miller there also. The funniest thing about him aside from his face, was his right arm, which kept going around in circles. Mr. Adelman explained that this had been caused by the fact that, when the partners had taken that trip which they had planned in their Senior year at B. H. S., Don had been taken along as official cranker. I guess he must have had to do a lot of cranking.

Then we went to Batavia. There we found that Doc. Will had retired from the active(?) life he was leading. He told us that he had been nominated for president of the United States, but had declined the nomination because there was no chance for advancement in that office. He said that he was going to Sweden to get a better French accent. Francis Brewer accompanied him. We noticed that Doc. parted his hair on the side.

Stub Case was selling corduroy "pants" to the students of B. H.S. That very evening, Cornelius Haitz gave a lecture on "Curing Study-itis". Harold Claflin was benefited by this lecture to a great extent.

The next thing we saw a pink shirt factory operated by Sage DeCot. William Ugenia was the star salesman. The shirts were reversible and practically all pink.

At B. H. S. we found much to interest us. The whole school certainly was changed! We found that three past graduates had decorated every room in the building. And who do you suppose they were? Edna Simmons, Irma DeVoe, and Lila Page! They told us that they could not leave B. H. S. looking so bare; so they had remained after the rest of us had graduated. It was a work of art and no mistake! Allie Bower was one of the popular teachers at B. H. S. She taught "Psychology of Laziness"; laziness being an unknown factor in our school at this time. It was hard to convince Bill of this, though. Curt Norris drove a taxi to and from school for the students who were too young to drive. Strange to say, there were many. We also saw Elwin Wigton ambling along on stilts waiting to grow up so that he could enter college. He planned to teach Intermediate Algebra.

Then Bill saw himself. He was in the same partnership with Wallie Stakel, only their business had grown considerably. They had raised the price of coloring tan shoes black from forty cents to sixty cents a pair. Tillie Weed was their private stenographer but she could hardly be called "Tillie the Toiler".

Parker Terry, taking his vocations from his name had at first been a car parker and was now a park "carer". Francis Singleton helped him along whenever he could leave his office of "chief" at the Indian Reservation.

We noticed that Pauline Smith, who between times did nothing, clipped coupons as a result of successful investments in school papers.

While in Batavia, we had the pleasure of seeing the famous Schurman and Kearney circus. Successful? We'll say so. Why the inhabitants turned out 35,000 strong! There were two tight-rope walkers, Fred Wight and Wheeler WeMett, and they sure did make a hit. The famous horsewoman was none other than Doris Embt. Martha Herrick, Evalina Galliford, Cora Gebhart, Marion Cosway, Ruthie Greening and Millie Adams were all trapeze wonders. Lester Myers, Francis Kane, and Everett Traux were clowns—and such clowns! People fainted with laughter! We didn't want to pay a quarter to see some of the side shows but we were sorry afterwards because we found that Lloyd Jayne was one of them.

Our next stop was Bushville. We couldn't do much there because everyone spoke a deaf and dumb language which we found Bill Gleason had instituted. Marjorie Prole was the only one who spoke at all. Alan Ames was there as business manager of the Bushvillian. Gladys Parsons and Rose Taber had established a business school nearby, and their methods were so effective that both Bryant and Stratton, and R. B. I. went into permanent bankruptcy. Viola Stakel had put Bushville on the map when, after a long search, she had found the lost chord there.

In New York, the city which Bill Schmitt had remodeled so that it was almost unrecognizable, we found an exclusive bachelor girl's club of which Ruth Allan was president. Violet Bujniewicz, the girl who had "swum" the Atlantic Ocean in a non-stop swim of forty hours, was secretary. She told us that she had retired to the club for protection from newspaper reporters and other animals. Lucille Eberhart, who had become rich from a wonderful hair tonic she had put on the market, was also a member. Lucille said that her success was chiefly due to the using of Ronald McLernon's hair for advertisement We always did say that Ronald's hair would be the making of him. Other members were Gladys Goade, author of "Defense of the Irish." Kathryn Hale, writer of the famous "Slang Dictionary"; Jennie Bialkowski, discoverer of the wonderful chemical which guaranteed to take the warts off cucumbers; Mary Lynch, scenario writer; Helen Masse, songwriter; Helen Fitzsimmons, who had long since given up dancing because she had sprained her nose while doing the Charleston; Edna Roth who had stepped into Gloria Swanson's shoes, Dot Wilder, author of "Wilder Method of Study"; Evelyn Weeks, leading lady in the great drama, "Naughty but Nice"; Catherine Page, who had retired to spend the rest of her life translating Wallie Stakel's famous French speech. Mary McWain, Marion Hill, Helen Wells, Dorothy Weeks, Mary Crehan, Ruth Hoag, Evelyn Hunn (still writing notes), and Margaret Trautenburg. The latter eight had run a tablet factory near Batavia High School with devices by which the students, who ran out of paper, could receive a tablet by a sort of "shoot", instead of having to borrow from their neighbors.

George Young, chief plenipotentiary of the republic of Mussolini; George Hodgson, alderman of the fourth ward of Brooklyn; Hollis Upson, still yawning, and Elbert Martin, world famous jockey known as "galloping Swede"; had all come to visit this club one day; and, as a result, some of the girls resigned from the club. Who married which? Well that would be telling.

Oh yes! What happened to our other editor-in-chief, Eleanor Homelius? Why she bought up the rights to the Jiggs and Maggie cartoons. Since she draws the pictures, Jiggs has more chin and Maggie has less authority over him.

Well, I guess that's all—What? Did I see myself there? Yep. I was still writin' prophecies, but I had grown one whole inch and so did not have to endure any more remarks about microbes and other small objects.

The Junior Class elected Edith McRoberts, Orlo Clark and E. Clare Eberhart to represent it in the G. O. council. Gertrude Morith and Aileen Gillard were chosen as assistant editors, Carlos Weiss and Seth Dennis as assistant business managers and Julia DeLano as assistant art editor, to serve on the Batavian Staff. The class advisers are Miss Shepard and Miss Watt.

The Junior Banquet was held January 14, with Margaret Young as general chairman. In the absence of Philip Weiss, who was unavoidably detained, William Boughton acted as toastmaster. About eighty Juniors enjoyed this occasion.

February 18, marks the date of one of the most successful "Proms" in the history of B. H. S. About one hundred fifty couples attended. Under the careful directions of the general chairman, John McGettigan, it was a financial success. The gym was most cleverly decorated in red and white worked out in valentines. Riley Brother's Orchestra furnished some good snappy music, which added the final touch to the evening.

Next year as Seniors the sky will be our limit.

Sophomore Class History

A meeting of the Sophomore Class was called early in the year, and plans were made for organizing. After a few remarks made by the officers of last year, petitions for new officers were immediately put under signature. The election resulted as follows:

President.....EDWARD BURLEIGH
Vice-President.....ANNA B. SIMMONS
Secretary.....JOSEPHINE R. RUFFINO
Treasurer.....DONALD MCNERNEY

Members of Council: Margaret Carr, Jack MacDonald. However, Jack McDonald's withdrawal from school necessitated a special election for someone to take his place. Stewart Comfort was chosen.

The outstanding event of the year was the Sophomore Banquet. Many of the Sophomores were present and everyone had an enjoyable time. The customary attempt to capture our toastmasters was followed and proved partly successful. Ward Manchester was abducted. Besides pupils, many teachers were present.

Although we have been very successful this year in all our projects, we expect to accomplish much more for B. H. S. next year.

Freshman Class History

The Class of 1930 was formally organized in the early part of the school year and chose as its leaders for the year 1926-27 the following: president, Arthur McGettigan; vice-president, Isobelle McBride; secretary, Amelia Miner; treasurer, William Clark.

Sherman Babcock was elected our member to the G. O. council and Miss Cramer the present class social adviser. After much deliberation the class chose as its colors silver and old rose.

About one hundred young people, nearly the entire Freshman class, were present at the pretty class party held in the High School gymnasium on the evening of February the twenty-fifth. We enjoyed games and dancing, excellent music being furnished by an orchestra composed of Freshman boys.

Our Freshman class has not been inactive during the year. We have proved our literary ability by the many stories contributed to the Picayune, our mental ability by the large number of names that appear on the honor roll each six weeks; we also assure B. H. S. of an excellent basket ball team in the years to come.

The class feels as if it had had a most happy and profitable year, with but one great sorrow, the sudden death of Miss Marian Ward who was our beloved Freshman adviser. The entire class grieved; but she has left a reputation to be proud of and an influence which will be felt for the rest of our High School days.

We will be most happy to return to school as "Sophs."

THE BLUE AND WHITE

WORDS BY LESLIE CORYELL '01 ♦ TUNE—"ORANGE AND BLACK"

1. OUR SCHOOL HAS ALWAYS FAVORED THAT RICH AND GLOSSY BLUE
2. WE WILL EVER PRAISE OUR HIGH SHOOL WHICH IN BATAVIA STANDS
3. WE RECALL ATHLETIC VICTORIES ON MANY A DAY BEFORE

WHICH WITH WHITE IN COMBINATION - IS BEAUTIFUL AND TRUE;
"INDIVIDUAL INSTRUCTION" - KNOWN NOW THROUGHOUT THE LANDS
HOW WE CAPTURED PRIZE AND TROPHY - BUT STILL WE WISH FOR MORE

THEY ARE ALWAYS FLOATING GAILY - AND NEVER OUT OF SIGHT;
AND ITS FAITHFUL CORPS of TEACHERS THEIR DUTIES NEVER SLIGHT,
BUT WE'RE SURE THAT WE'LL NOT FALTER - AS WE RENEW THE FIGHT,

WHILE IN UNISON WE'RE SINGING, "LONG LIVE THE BLUE AND WHITE."
FOR THEY KNOW THAT THEY ARE WORKING FOR THE BLUE AND THE WHITE.
JUST BECAUSE WE'RE MARCHING ONWARD 'NEATH THE BLUE AND THE WHITE.

The General Organization

At the beginning of the year 1926-27, the G. O. started off again with a bang. The whole school joined so as to be able to take part in the exciting presidential campaign which followed. Frank Will was elected president, and George Hodgson, vice-president.

Soon afterwards, the whole council was elected and work started in earnest. In addition to the student members, four faculty members were chosen to represent that group. The council is the body which carries on the business of the G. O. To do this efficiently it is invested with ample power. During the past year the council has tried to use this power for the best interests of the school.

The council has not been idle. Six meetings have been held and much important business has been transacted. One of the most important steps taken was to bring an amendment concerning traffic regulations before the students. The amendment was carried by a small majority of the student body, but it was decided not to put it into effect until next year. The council also decided to award orange and black numerals to the members of the freshman basketball team.

We sincerely hope that next year the General Organization will be increasingly successful and that B. H. S. may continue to be justly proud of its student government.

Honor Society

Last spring four juniors, Wallace Stakel, William Southworth, Lloyd Jayne and Ralph Lewis were chosen as a nucleus for this year's Honor Society. Early in October four others, Violet Bujniewicz, Rose Schwartz, Lucille Eberhart and Mary McWain were added.

Wallace Stakel was elected president; Lucille Eberhart, vice-president; Mary McWain, secretary; and William Southworth, treasurer. Lloyd Jayne was appointed chairman of a social committee to plan for social functions.

Early in February, six more students, Alan Ames, Jennie Bialkowski, Helen Masse, Francis Singleton, Parker Terry and Dorothy Weeks joined our ranks, thereby raising the number to fourteen. For their initiation, we had an assembly; and, after the ceremony, over which Miss Hunn presided, we enjoyed speeches by Mr. Wells, Mr. Randall and William Neville, and also by the Honor Society's own jazz orchestra, composed of Ruth Gear, Lloyd Jayne and William Southworth.

Since this account has to go to press so early, it is impossible to tell what we are going to do the rest of the year, but needless to say, it will be interesting.

Junior Honor Society

The Junior Honor Society is a newly formed group, composed of all the Freshmen, Sophomores and Juniors who had attained, the year previous, honor marks four times in the six week interims.

The Club of forty-seven members is in charge of a committee of five people. Those on the committee are: Aileen Gillard, Norman Reamer, Charles Cornwell, Josephine Ruffino and Isobelle McBride, who have all been appointed by Mr. Weber and Mrs. Douglass, the adviser.

The aim of the society is about the same as that of the Senior Honor Society and the constitution is modeled after that of the Seniors', taking for its purpose the development of scholarship, leadership, character and service. The special project attempted for this year is the helping of earnest students who are rather backward in some subjects.

As all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, the members have up their sleeves some plans for good times where dignity will be thrown to the winds and no one will be able to find a brain in the whole bunch.

Girls' Service League

The Senior Girls' Service League has been in existence for four years. The purpose of this organization which is composed of sophomore, junior, and senior girls is to serve the needs of B. H. S. in every possible way. The following will show that we have accomplished this purpose. We have ushered at all school entertainments and other affairs held in the auditorium. We have served at the Hi-Y suppers, class banquets, teacher's banquets, and the lunches for both the home and visiting teams at the basketball games. We have also had a check room and sold candy and eskimo pies at the games.

The girls started out this fall with the following officers:

President..... Catherine Page
Vice-President..... Margaret Young
Secretary..... Helen Wells
Treasurer..... Eleanor Homelius
Advisers..... Mrs. MacIntosh and Miss Klefeker

On November 27, 1926, an initiation service was held to welcome fourteen new members into the club. Miss Bryan gave an interesting talk on "Service". Refreshments were served.

An assembly program is to be put on by members of the League under the direction of Mrs. MacIntosh and Miss Klefeker.

In memory of Miss Ward, our adviser, who recently passed away, we are having a picture of Mount Vesuvius, a favorite of hers, framed to be placed in Study Hall B.

We wish to thank Mrs. MacIntosh, our newly elected adviser, and Miss Klefeker for their services to the league.

The Seniors wish the girls another successful year—who, with the support of the school; will continue to aid B. H. S.

Hi-Y Club

The Hi-Y Club is a boys' club which has the purpose of seeking to create, maintain and extend high standards of Christian character throughout the Batavia High School. The club is composed of boys chosen from the Junior and Senior class boys of the school who are selected every fall by a committee secretly nominated from the present members of the club. Only the very best members of the two classes are chosen for election to the club. The club does a great deal to achieve its aim by cooperating with the Y. M. C. A. in many projects carried on by the Y. M. C. A.

During the Christmas vacation, the club distributed baskets to the poor through the Salvation Army and also held a dance for the alumni members of the club who were home from college.

A new idea was started this year by chairman of the speakers' committee, Ralph Lewis, in having talks on choosing a vocation which were given by men of the town who are interested in various vocations. We sure appreciate their kindness in giving their time to come and speak to us. There certainly was a great deal of good knowledge in their talks.

A very interesting trip through the telephone office was taken a short time ago and we extend our thanks to the Telephone Company for this courtesy.

Dr. Brunk brought to a close our list of speakers with a talk on "The Story of Life". This lecture was given April 7—our Father-and-Son night. We thank Dr. Brunk for his kindness in coming down from Buffalo to speak to us.

A very good orchestra under the capable leadership of Bill Gleason and composed of Bill Gleason, "Norm" Hall, "Ron" McLernon and "Sam" Gaeta furnished music at all our meetings.

We thank Mr. Hosmer, Mr. Rankin and the Y. M. C. A. for sponsoring the club and for the cooperation they have given us in our work.

Last, but not least, we thank the Ladies' Auxiliary and the Girls' Service League to whom we are indebted for our good suppers.

The "B" Men's Club

The "B" men's club is one of the most active in Batavia High School. It is composed only of those fellows who have earned a major letter in some branch of athletics, also the cheer leaders.

One of the main objects of the club is to promote clean sportsmanship and a high standard of athletics. The club sponsors all athletics, "pep" assemblies and games. There is only one social function during the year, and that is the annual picnic, at which the club holds its initiation ceremonies. This is looked forward to with much apprehension by the new members, and with much pleasure and satisfaction by those who have already been initiated. It is sure to be a never-to-be-forgotten occasion for everyone concerned.

There are not many outstanding things that the "B" men's club has done—for that is not the purpose of the organization. They do pledge themselves to promote the best type of school spirit and are glad to sponsor all projects which will give our school the finest rating in the schools of the state.

Debating Club

At the beginning of the school year, the Batavia High School Debating Club was organized. The officers elected were:

President.....W. J. Stakel
Vice-President.....W. Southworth
Secretary.....P. J. Weiss
Treasurer.....O. Clark

Our first debate was with Masten Park High School of Buffalo. The Batavia High School team was composed of W. Stakel; W. Southworth; C. Eberhart, and F. Singleton. Batavia won the debate by a big margin. Miss O'Meara, a former Batavia High School instructor complimented the Batavia team after the debate. Debates have been arranged with Hornell on The Prohibition Question and with Masten Park on Cancellation of the Allied War Debts.

The Debating Club wishes to thank Miss Ridley for helping to give our school a first class debating team.

P. J. W. '28.

The Debating Team

This year, as in the past three years, Batavia High School has produced a creditable debating team. Thus far, we have won two of the three debates we have engaged in. There are still two more in which we expect to make a good showing. We have two teams. They are composed of the following:

William Southworth	Francis Singleton
Clare Eberhart	Seth Dennis
Wallace Stakel	William Gleason
Philip Weiss	Alan Ames

Our manager, Philip Weiss, in addition to being a member of the team, has been the best manager any team has ever known. By virtue of these debates, Batavia has again been received into the National Forensic League, an honor for any school.

On the whole, debating has enjoyed a very successful season.

Huntley Oratorical Contest

The annual Huntley Oratorical Contest was held in the High School Auditorium, March 11, 1927. There was a large audience present which gave inspiration to the youthful speakers. The try-outs had been three weeks before so as to choose the final ten who were: Alan Ames, Perry Combs, William Gleason, David Hannah, Bernard Lenihan, William Schmitt, William Southworth, Wallace Stakel, Parker Terry and Frederick Wight.

The first prize of fifteen dollars in gold was given to William Southworth who gave, "Lincoln, a Man Called of God". Wallace Stakel with "The New South" was given the second prize of ten dollars in gold and William Schmitt received honorable mention with "The Plumed Knight."

The judges were: Mr. John L. Stamp, Teacher of Public Speaking and Dramatics, Bennett High School, Buffalo; Miss May Holloran, Assistant Librarian, Hutchinson Central High School, Buffalo; and Rev. W. Edmund Nixon, LeRoy.

Larkin Contest

On April 12, the Larkin Contest was held in Ingham Hall at LeRoy. The three boys who represented Batavia were William Southworth, Wallace Stakel, and William Schmitt; the three girls were Margaret Young, Lucille Eberhart, and Aileen Gillard. The speakers displayed excellent training, and their splendid interpretation was especially noticeable. The two first prizes of ten dollars each were awarded LeRoy. The two second prizes of five dollars each were won by William Schmitt, and Aileen Gillard. This contest is made possible by Mr. T. W. Larkin of LeRoy. The citizens of Batavia and LeRoy who are interested in public speaking, and the students of Batavia High School are very grateful to Mr. Larkin.

Girls' Local Speaking Contest

Among the important events of our school year, is the Girls' Local Speaking Contest. This year it was held on February eleventh.

Instead of the usual "speeches", that are generally given, the girls gave interpretative readings. Margaret Young received first place, with a prize of ten dollars; Lucille Eberhart second, with a prize of five dollars; and Aileen Gillard honorable mention. These girls represented our school in the annual Larkin Contest held in LeRoy this year. The other girls who took part in the Speaking Contest were: Fanny Bender, Gladys Goade, Alice Chapple, Charlotte Duffy, Edith McRoberts, Isabel Peard and Rose Schwartz.

Much credit is to be given to Mrs. Ogden, our new Public Speaking teacher this year, who helped the girls with this work.

Camerata Nuova Contest

The custom of a contest, between the girls from the State School for the Blind, and the High School, will be renewed this year. On May 27, Lucile Eberhart, Margaret Young, and Aileen Gillard will uphold the honor of B. H. S.

Ithaca Contest

A new contest has been announced which will take the place of the Columbia Contest. This was brought about by the Ithaca Conservatory of Music at Ithaca, New York. Any boy who wishes to compete is eligible. The selections to be used may be original speeches or standard declamations. They must be ten minutes in length. The preliminary contest will be held in Batavia, Friday evening, May 13th. The winner of this contest will go to Ithaca May 21st to compete in the New York State contest. The final award will be a scholarship to the Ithaca Conservatory of Music and a silver cup for the winning school.

National Forensic League

A chapter of the National Forensic League was first organized in Batavia High School in May, 1925, through the efforts of Miss O'Meara, teacher of Public Speaking at that time. The League is an honor society for the recognition of debating activities in high schools. We have the honor to be the 16th chapter in what is now a great chain extending into 43 states and including over a hundred cities. The only way in which it is possible to become a member is by actual participation in forensic work in which a certain number of credits must be earned. In the past year Batavia has been rather inactive as regards direct contact with the league but this is a fault which will surely be remedied in the future. At present we have five members: William Southworth, Clare Eberhart, Francis Singleton, Wallace Stakel and Mrs. Ogden, the coach. We trust that debating will be kept at such a high standard that we may continue indefinitely in good standing in the National Forensic League.

Senior Play

The Whole Town's Talking

The school play this year certainly proved that "people ain't always what they seem". Now who'd a' ever thought that "Doc" Will, playing the leading role, could act absolutely dumb. No one! But he did and—what's more,—he showed that he could make love with a zest. No wonder! His leading lady was none other than Viola Stakel. Last year's "Charm School" taught her so much that she was even more charming in "The Whole Town's Talking".

Could you ever picture Wallace Simms as a husband and a father with bright ideas in the bargain. Anytime you'd like to know how to start a whole town talking, speak to Wallie about it. He'll do it up fine.

Would it ever enter into your imagination that Edna Roth had an ounce of snobbishness in her? Why you couldn't even speak to her, if you weren't in her class. She even went so far as to freeze Wallie, her own husband. (Evidently, she had married beneath her station).

Bill Boughton, Viola's friend from "Chicago and Paris", emphasis on the Paris—though he had never studied the language, could rattle off French so quickly that he got Edna quite flustrated.

Two silly, small-town girls, friends of Viola, were none other than Alice Chapple and Margaret Young. Imagine the former direct from "Noo Yawk," being a small town girl; and a "lithsp" to go with it.

What do you think of Don Mayer as a veritable "cave-man" from movieland with his movie-actress-fiance, Jean Hovey? Jean could and did act, though. "Doc" Will knows that,—the poor innocent.

Any man ought to be proud of the kind of maid, Isabel Peard made. Wallie received plenty of help from her expressive hands and from her ability of not saying much.

Two characters who put the spice of variety into Wallie's life, were William Crelly, a chauffeur, and Rose Schwartz, a dancing teacher.

Everyone worked hard to make the play a success. It was put on in the auditorium, May 5 and 6, under the direction of Mrs. Ogden who deserves much thanks and praise for the time and hard work she put into it. Credit is also due the stage-hands, the property men, the electricians, the carpenters, the box-office committee and the advertising agents. George Young, the manager is to be lauded for making the play a financial success. We extend our thanks to all others who helped to make our play one of the big events of 1927.

GAINSBOROUGH
ART CLUB

The Gainsborough Art Club

The Gainsborough Art Club has had a short season, not beginning until January because of the new schedule for classes. During the latter semester the club made up for lost time. They worked under the officers elected last year, having Miss Watt as adviser; Lila Page, President; Irma DeVoe, Vice-President; Violet Bujniewicz, Secretary; Edna Simmons, Treasurer and Julia DeLano, Reporter.

As their first project undertaken this year, the club assisted in the picture exhibition, held on March the thirtieth and thirty-first and April the first and second. Two hundred large reproductions of the masterpieces of architecture, sculpture and painting, most of which the girls had studied in the club, were loaned by the Elson Publication Company of Boston. From these pictures, twenty were chosen for dramatization, given Thursday and Friday evening of that week, nine being from the art club. Much comment was caused by the picture of "Mona Lisa" as it is a difficult figure both in expression and coloring. The picture was introduced by an appreciation and interpretation by Eleanora Sherman. Whistler's "Mother" was well portrayed and liked by the audience as also was the "Pot of Basil". Margaret Young preceded the latter by a description of the picture and its tragical story. The two statues "Alma Mater" and the "Alice Freeman Palmer Memorial" were impressive because they were of an entirely different order. Alice Chapple gave an appreciation of these statues and a historical sketch of the sculptor, French. Olivia Schafer gave an interesting discussion of peasant life preceding Millet's pictures "The Gleaners" and "The Angelus", which were beautiful in color. A difficult group picture was Sargent's "Frieze of the Prophets" of which the left hand section was given.

The money realized from this exhibition is being used to buy pictures for the class rooms of Batavia Schools.

The second great plan of the club was to decorate the girls' rest room. This was done as a memorial to Miss Ward, who was a member of the club. Yellow was used because it was Miss Ward's favorite color. Yellow block printed curtains are hung over the stage windows, yellow, blue and black cushions of several shapes are scattered on the lounge, where a blanket is also placed. The floor is also to be painted and a rug secured. There is a large wall hanging of bright birds and block printed covers for the chairs which lend a touch of color to the room. The table lamp softens the light to one's eyes. A screen is to be made to keep in the room and also a hall tree. This work has given the girls a chance to use some of their ideas and skill.

No definite plans are as yet made but most of the girls are looking forward to the annual picnic and outing.

This year's orchestra is the largest the school has ever had. At first, the orchestra was not very large and Mr. Weber found it necessary to call a special meeting to arouse interest and to call for more players. Many responded and now we have a good orchestra under the capable direction of Mrs. Svedman. Monday night was decided on as a night for practice because a suitable study period could not be found. The orchestra has played for assemblies, speaking contests, the art exhibit, the school play and other events. Election of officers was held at the beginning of the year with Fred Wight presiding. Elmer Hampton was elected president; William Southworth, leader; Robert Clement, secretary and Steven Williams, librarian.

We are making bigger plans for next year and hope to have a larger and better orchestra.

High School Chorus

The Boys' and Girls' Glee Clubs have united this year under the name of the High School Chorus.

The enrollment is the largest it has ever been, totaling one hundred.

The club met early and elected the following officers:

President.....MAY LOWE
Vice-President.....WALLACE SIMMS
Secretary and Treasurer.....EDWIN ROTH

On account of the number of members the club is forced to meet in Study Hall A during the Junior Assembly.

This year we have more "Sophs" and "Froshes" out than ever before, thus giving us fine prospects for the years to come.

Remember the old saying, "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." Well, we not only find work, but also the enjoyment of hearing the girls trying to reach "high C" or the boys "low G".

Our work has been under Mrs. Svedman's direction to whom we extend our sincerest thanks for helping us to have a successful year.

Guy Smith guided the team with real generalship, yielding his captaincy to Howard Munsey who will lead forth, in the coming season, a team that B. H. S. will remember.

We will all agree that they have given us a brand of basketball worthy of as much praise as any B. H. S. team has demonstrated.

The student body is to be congratulated on the wonderful support which it has tendered the team during its season. The cheering has been fine, showing what B. H. S. can do to support a team.

Girls' Athletics

Since 1925, very little has been said concerning girls' athletics. However, the old system of a varsity team has been dropped and a new system of intramural athletics has been introduced. At present, interclass basketball is the only sport in which a girl can participate, but it is hoped that in the near future, facilities may permit a more extensive program of girls' athletics organized on a similar plan.

Each year, a committee of three chooses fifteen girls, who best meet the requirements, to be awarded a "B". Each of these girls must successfully carry at least three subjects, attend practice regularly and must be one of the girls chosen for the all high squad.

This year a squad of approximately twenty-five was chosen from each class. Each squad elected a captain: Freshmen, May Hodgson; Sophomores, Anna Simmons; Juniors, Aileen Gillard. Dorothy Volz acted as manager with the assistance of Jean Morrison.

As the Juniors won each game they played they were elected to the "All-High squad." Although the Freshmen and Sophomores were defeated, they have promising teams for next year.

The outcome of the games was as follows:

March 1	Juniors	14	Sophomores	1
March 3	Juniors	21	Freshmen	6
March 8	Sophomores	21	Freshmen	6
March 11	Juniors	26	Sophomores	3
March 15	Sophomores	31	Freshmen	1
March 18	Juniors	32	Freshmen	2

The following girls were awarded "B" 's. Ruth Iveson, Ruth Prugh, Olive Norris, Dorothy Volz, Aileen Gillard, Dorothy Will, Louise Kauffman, Margaret Young, Anita Colangelo, Catherine Casey, Florence Fricker, Anna Simmons, Helen Bolt, Beulah Johnson, Stella Bujniewicz.

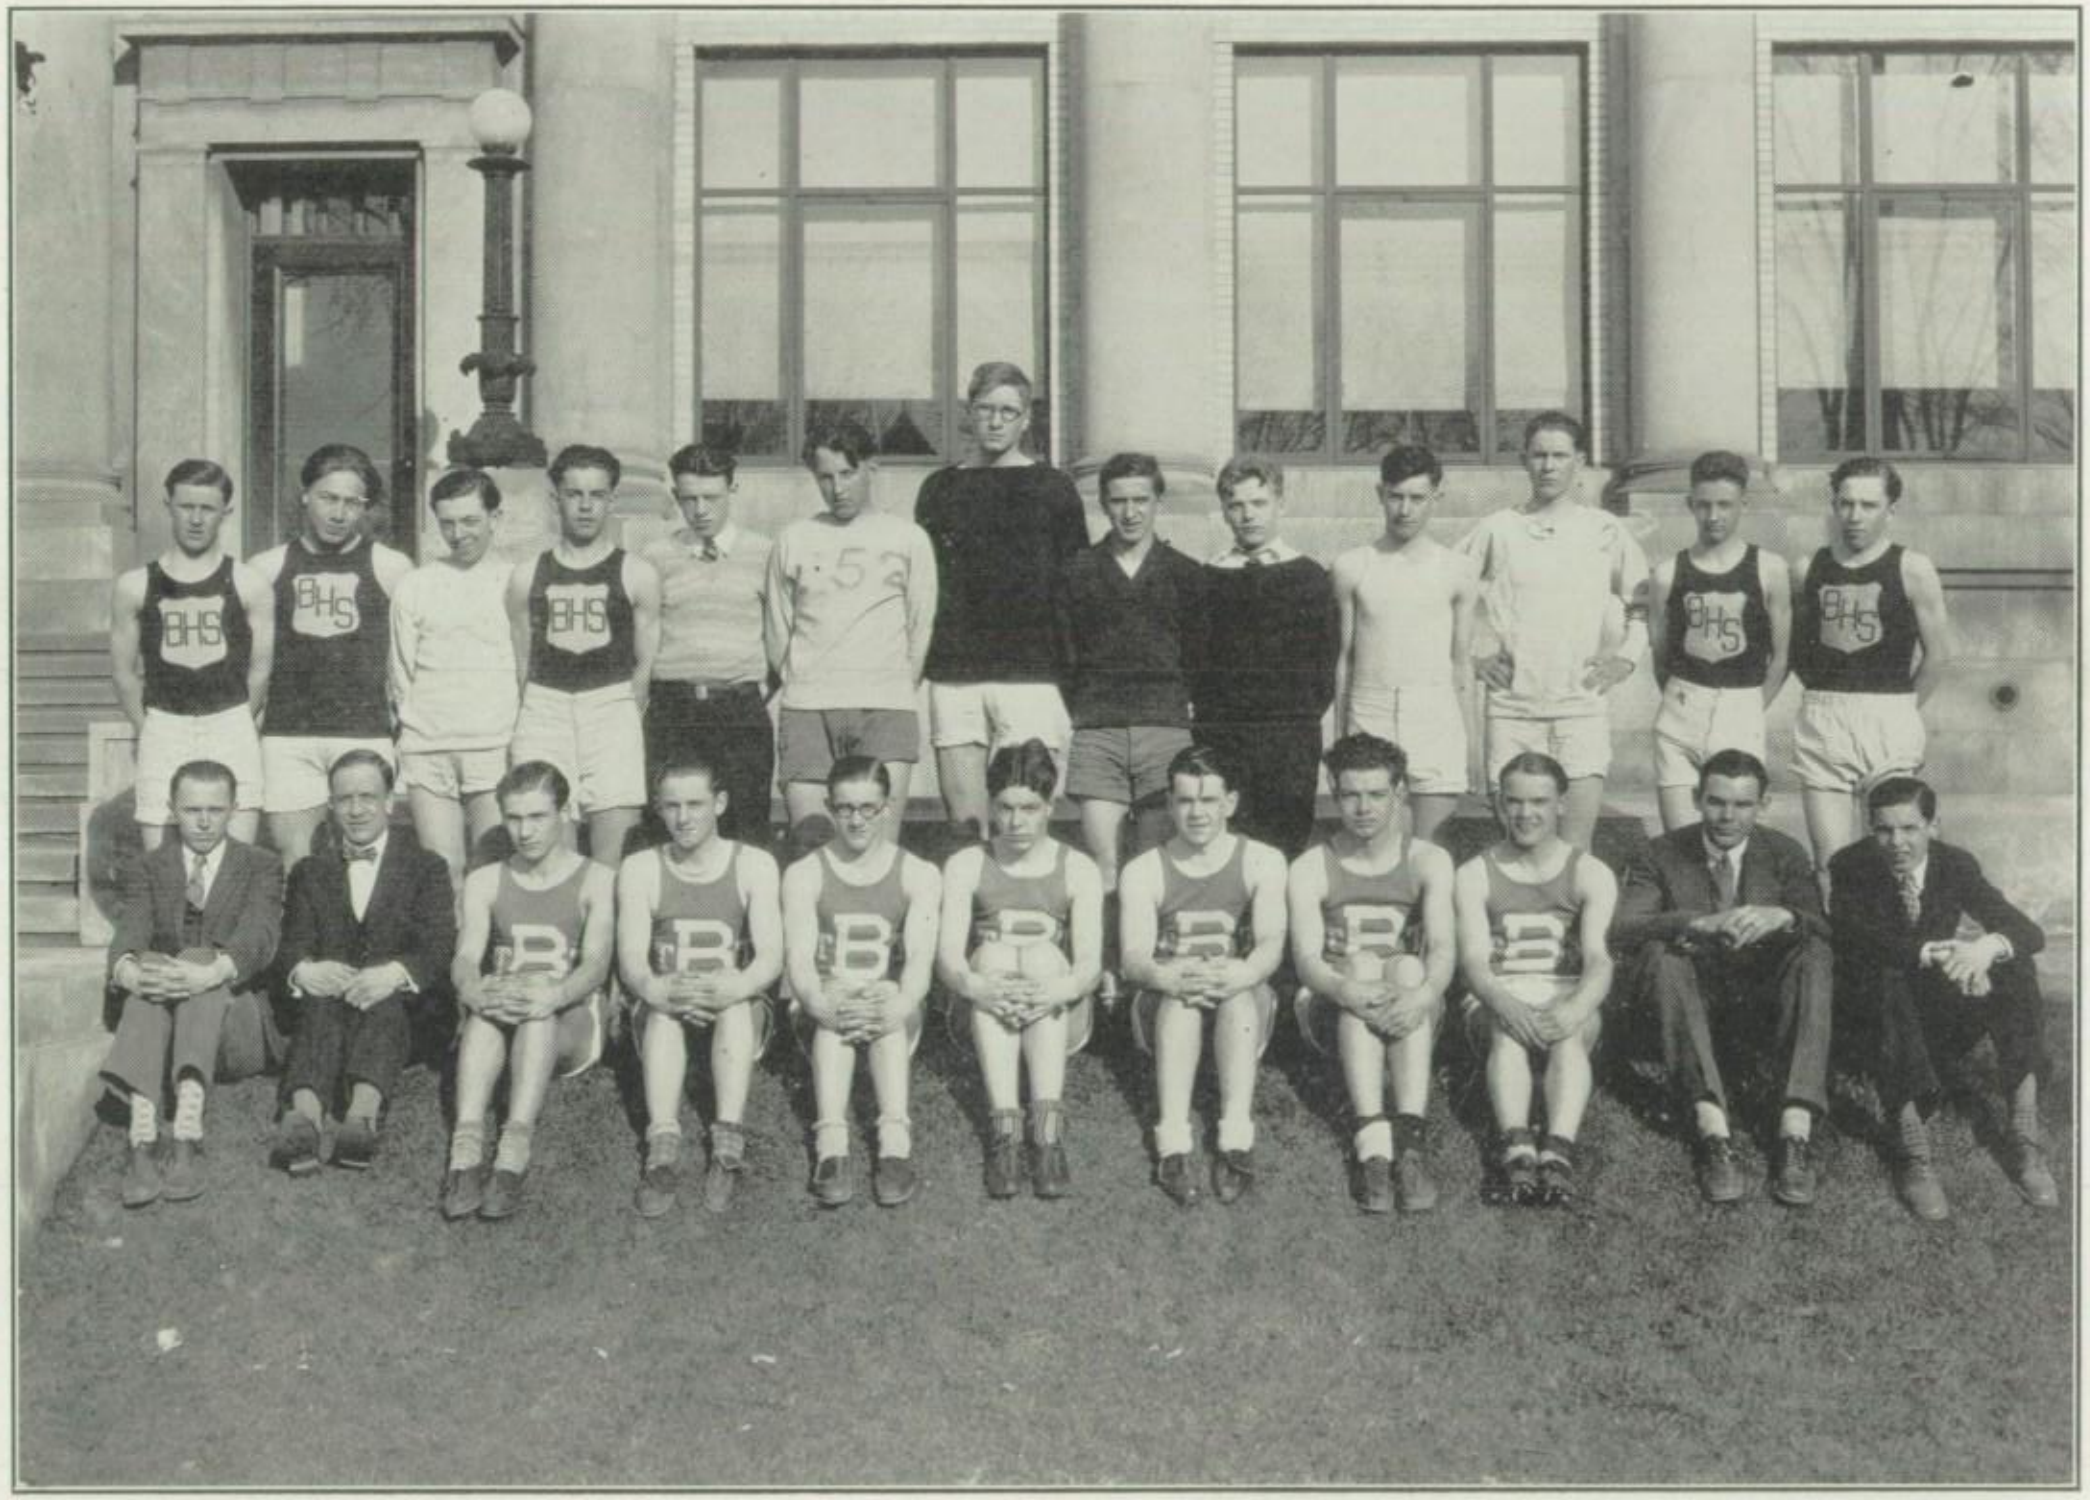
Spring has arrived which brings an old friend along as an enjoyment and recreation, baseball. After successful seasons in Football and Basketball, a similar season is predicted for Baseball. With several letter-men back, and many promising candidates, Coach Pierce hopes to develop a team strong enough to face the heavy schedule that has been prepared.



Track

Track

The track season, although not officially opened, has attracted several candidates this year. Under the supervision of Coach Winters, practice has been held three nights each week. Favorable results have been shown, although we are handicapped by the absence of nearly all the letter-men. Those that have returned are "Doc" Will, George Hodgson, Lawrence Hawks, Ralph Diamond, Ralph Call and Robert Gillis. Several meets have been arranged by the manager, Ralph Lewis, including the annual interscholastic meet at the Fair Grounds on Decoration Day.

CHEERLEADERS

We folks shall have to admit that the word "Cheerleaders" is just a high brow word for the phrase "Hot Air Directors" and that cheers are one of the necessary elements which go to make up the social activity which we enjoy in the Batavia High School.

As we look back over the cheering which we have had this year, we recall that, at certain times it hasn't been what it might have been. No doubt this was due to the inefficiency and anfractuosities of the cheerleaders. Then, again, we can remember when we almost raised the roof. These pleasant moments should leave never-to-be-forgotten memories in our hearts.

The Cheerleaders wish to thank the student body for their hearty backing and cooperation. We sincerely wish that, next year, we may have cheers and cheerleaders, which are superior in every way. Let's GO! Aim high. And talk it up a wee bit.

"Mac." '27.

The Athletic Field

The dreams of Batavia High School students for an Athletic Field have come true. Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest L. Woodward of LeRoy, Batavia has acquired such a field. Situated on Union Street, the property consists of about eight acres, six and one-half of which shall be used as an athletic field, and the rest for a new grammar school.

This field will provide a place for our football gridiron, baseball diamond and tennis courts. There will be a quarter-mile track with a "100-yard straight-away" surrounding the interior of the field. A grandstand will be erected to provide for the spectators who used to crowd to the games at Austin Park and stand around in the mud. Parking space for automobiles will be another feature of this wonderful field.

The need of this athletic field was realized more fully after the LeRoy-Batavia football game last fall, held at the fair grounds. Using the fair grounds as an example, one can imagine the "lay-out" of the new field more clearly. If this field had been our place of play that day, we could have realized the importance of it to a greater extent. However, the students of Batavia do fully realize that they have been very fortunate in securing such a place for athletics.

We are greatly indebted to Mr. and Mrs. Woodward and we shall always remember them as our kindest benefactors.

The Junior Organization

This year a project has been started in the Junior High School that is similar to that begun about two years ago by the Senior High School.

A committee was appointed to draw up a Constitution for a Junior Organization. After much hard work, the committee submitted a Constitution for the approval of the faculty and students. It proved to be very satisfactory as the students accepted it by an overwhelming majority.

The next step was the membership drive. In this we were very successful. Every student joined.

After this, came the nomination and election of officers. This was conducted in a very business-like way by the managers of the nominees. Charles Lehman, Millard Noonan and Edison Lee were nominated for president, and Jeanette Strouts, Grace Landon, Helen Howe and Evelyn Albright for vice-president. Charles Lehman and Jeanette Strouts were elected and have proved themselves to be very capable officers.

The members of the Student Council were then appointed or elected and the Junior High School had launched its "Ship of State", the J. O. on its long and (we believe) successful voyage through the waters of the years to come.

Junior Service League

President.....MARY McKONE
Vice-President.....JEANETTE STROUTS
Secretary.....HELEN McWAIN
Treasurer.....KATHERINE TELFAIR
Advisor.....MRS. PHILLIBIN

In the year 1926-27 several important activities have been undertaken by the Junior Service League.

Formerly it was made up of girls of the seventh, eighth, and ninth years; but, this year, it was decided that at the close of school all of the present Freshman and eighth grade girls would be dropped making it purely Junior High; that is,—all seventh and eighth year girls. It is hoped that the plan of having no Freshmen in either the Junior or Senior League will eliminate any possible feeling when the girls are chosen for the Senior League in their Sophomore year.

The best known duties of a Service League girl are ushering, and selling tickets for and supporting the various high school activities; but it takes a great deal more than this to make a true Service League girl. She must help the new girls get acquainted and promote a friendly spirit between the classes. One of her greatest duties is to protect school property. The writer challenges anyone to find a girl in the Junior League who does not try very hard to do these things.

As the ushering for the various High School entertainments is taken care of by the Senior League, this year, the Junior girls have ushered for the grade school entertainments and for the Italian lecture.

With the money from the candy sale which the Service League held this year, two baskets were filled with food enough to last a family of five for nearly a week and a few simple luxuries that the family might enjoy. These baskets were sent to poor families of the city.

March 25, the Junior assembly was put on by the Service League. A humorous play, "Aunt Matilda's Birthday Party", was acted by the members of the League. Mary McKone, the president, explained the activities and membership of the League to the Junior High School pupils.

This summer, the girls plan to send one undernourished Batavia child to the health camp for two weeks.

On the whole, we think that the Junior Service League has had a rather successful year and we hope that future leagues may have as great success under as capable an advisor.

Junior High Basketball

The Junior High Basketball organized last fall under Vincent Callahan, our coach. As the duties of a High School Manager took most of Mr. Callahan's time, he was obliged to leave us; but our last year's coach, G. Klien McCurdy, soon came over to help us out. From the thirty boys who came out for the squad, it was hard work for the coach to choose the best ones. The first team was composed of William Wickens, (captain), Neil Duffy, Ralph Collings, James Nigro, and Richard Davis with Donald Hiscutt, Charles Lehman, Charles Chilson, David Covell, Millard Noonan, Edison Lee, and Norman Noack as substitutes.

The team this year had a fine record. We were defeated three times out of four by the Daily News team. The seventh grade team played us twice and lost both times. We were defeated by the Bergen Second Varsity team by one point. This game was counted as a victory, because the most of the fellows on the Bergen team were Juniors and Seniors. The Oakfield Second Varsity team came over here twice and went back both times defeated. We played the South Byron Junior High and won with a score of 26 to 15. In the game with Freshmen Eagles, we covered ourselves with glory winning with a score of 28 to 5. This is surely a good record for an eighth grade team.

Much credit must be given to the Seventh Grade team who held us once to a score of 16 to 14. The Junior High can be sure of a good team for next year.

Most of the players on our team will be Freshmen next year and will probably be on the Freshman squad. We wish them good luck and hope for their success on the Freshman team.

Junior Hi-Y Club

The officers who managed the Club during the past season were:

RALPH DIAMOND ..... President
ALFRED OLSON ..... Vice-President
WILLIAM FAYLOR ..... Secretary
ALLEN JOHNSTON ..... Treasurer

The Junior Hi-Y Club has concluded a very successful season under the able guidance of the president, Ralph Diamond.

We sent seven boys to the Older Boy's Conference held in Buffalo on November 26th-27th-28th, 1926. Although the Senior Hi-Y Club were the sponsers of the Genesee County quota of one hundred, we are very proud of the fact that we beat them by seven.

There has been quite a little rivalry between the two Hi-Y Clubs this season in the different events that each has put on and we think that the Junior Club has at least equalled, if not surpassed the Seniors in a number of things.

The Club meetings which were held every Wednesday night at the "Y" Club rooms, were well attended by all members. At each meeting some form of entertainment was given. We very much enjoyed our speakers, motion pictures and our trip through the New York Telephone Exchange.

The Club enjoyed many social events during the season. Some of these included a theatre party and dance. To finish a successful season a banquet and ball was held at which twenty-five couples were present. Mr. and Mrs. Hosmer acted as chaperons. Mr. Hosmer congratulated the officers on their splendid management of the club. W. O. F. '29.

R. Allen: "I bought a steak here yesterday, I believe."
Waiter: "Yes, madam; will you have the same today?"
Ruth: "I might as well, if no one else is using it."

* * *

Charlie: I wish I dared ask you a very important question.
Kay: Why don't you?
Ch.: I see a negative in your eyes.
K.: In both of them?
Ch.: Yes.
K.: Don't you know that two negatives makes an—why, Charlie, how dare you?

Philly came running to his mother from the garden.
"O mother! There's a green bird in the garden!"
"Is there?" replied his mother, "What is it?"
"It looks like a canary that's not quite ripe."

* * *

Slow movie: Modern child jumping at father's command.

A mule has two legs on behind,
And two he has before,
You stand behind before you find
What the two behind be for!

Seth Dennis: "So Orlo is studying to be a druggist."

John McGettigan: "Yes, he is attending a special course of lectures on soap, cigars, perfumery, soft drinks, city directories, telephone books, candy, funny post cards and stationery."

* * *

Miss Shepard: "And where was Sheridan when he took his famous twenty mile ride?

Alfred: "On a horse."

A teacher asked her class to write an essay on London. She was surprised to receive the following attempt:

"The people of London are noted for their stupidity."

The young author was asked how he got the idea.

"Please, Miss," he said, "It says in the text book that the population of London is very dense."

* * *

"Do you want me to put the muzzle on your dog for you?"

"No, indeed," said the woman who had talked for half an hour. "When I get home I will put it on myself."

A GIRL'S ESSAY ON BOYS.

"Boys are men that have not got as big as their papas, and girls are women that will be ladies by-and-by. Man was made before woman. When God looked at Adam He said to Himself: "Well I think I can do better if I try again." And He made Eve. God liked Eve so much better than Adam that there have been more women than men. Boys are a trouble, they wear out everything but soap. If I had my way half the world would be girls and the rest dolls. My papa is so nice that I think he must have been a girl when he was a boy."

Mistress: "Goodness, Mary, where is the telephone?"

Mary: Mrs. Brown called across the fence and asked if she could use it, so I sent it across, but I had an awful job to get it off the wall."

* * *

Lady: "Little boy, are you good?"

E. Wigton: "Yes'm."

Lady: "Parents living?"

E. Wigton: "Yes'm."

Lady: "Go to Sunday school?"

E. Wigton: "Yes'm."

Lady: "Love your teachers?"

E. Wigton: "Yes'm."

Lady: "Then I think I can trust you; run with this penny to the store and get me a roll, and remember, God sees you!"

B. Wescott: "On the second of April."
P. Boyle: "Late again."

* * *

B. Schmitt: "Ever study a blotter?"
V. Stakel: "No. Why?"
B. Schmitt: "Very absorbing thing."

* * *

Mr. Randall: "What's the most common impediment in the speech of American people?"
B. Schurman: "Chewing gum."

They were walking through the fields when they noticed a cow and a calf rubbing noses in bovine love. Ed spoke up: "The sight of that makes me want to do the same thing."

"Go ahead," replied Sally, "it's father's cow."

"Inspection Arms:" roared the corporal.

Walt Kornowski, (at training camp) immediately drops his rifle and starts to roll up his sleeves.

"What are you going to do—fight?" asked the corporal.

"No," said Kornowski mildly, "I thought you wanted to see if I'd been vaccinated."

* * *

I never sausage eyes as thine,
And if you'll butcher hand in mine,
And liver round me every day,
We'll seek some ham-let far away.
We'll meat life's frown with life's caress
And cleaver road to happiness.

* * *

Irate Mother (at dinner): "Albert, I wish you'd stop reaching for things. Haven't you a tongue?"

Albert: "Sure, but my arm's longer."

* * *

Do you know that 3,000 seals were used in making fur coats last year? It certainly is wonderful what they can train those animals to do.

* * *

A. Bower: Do you need any shoes?

M. McWain: No.

A. Bower: Neither do I. Let's go in this store and rest while they try some on us.

* * *

Never despair! Something will always turn up. Just when I thought I had no verse for today, a friend showed me the shortest poem in the English language. It is on the subject of microbes, and reads:

Adam
Had'em.

* * *

Waiter: "Want soup?"

P. Combs: "Is it good soup?"

Waiter: "Sure, fourteen carrot."

* * *

E. Salway: We had not been hunting long when there lay a rabbit dead at my feet.

W. Adelman: That so? What had it died of?

Valet (after master had rung for ten minutes):
"Did you ring, sir?"
Master: "No, I was tolling; I thought you were dead."

I'm going to kiss you.
(No answer)
(Louder) I'm going to kiss you.
(No answer)
Say, are you deaf!
No, but you're dumb.

It was a sleepy sort of day and the class was about half the usual size. Mr. Comfort was calling the roll and to each name some one answered "here", until the name Haitz was called. Silence reigned supreme only to be broken by Mr. Comfort's voice. "For pity sakes, hasn't Mr. Haitz any freinds here?"

This is a concrete instance of what confusion misplaced commas can produce.

"Lord Palmerston then entered upon his head, a white hat on his feet, well-polished boots upon his brow, a dark cloud in his hand, his faithful walking stick in his eye, a dark menacing glare saying nothing."

It was a wet day; and, as Mary Lynch entered the crowded street car, a man arose.

"No, you must not give up your seat. I insist" protested Mary.

"You may insist as much as you like, Miss," he replied, "I'm getting out here."

* * *

"You're fired!" stormed the hard-boiled boss.

"Fired? How you talk!" sneered the stenog, "I supposed they sold slaves."

* * *

"Sorry, dear," said father, "but you can't have a new dress right now, I'm hard pressed for money. But, cheer up! your little brother's operation will be over by next week!"

"But, dad," replied daughter, "I can't wear Bill's adenoids".

Thinking of me, dear?
Was I laughing? Oh, I'm so sorry.

* * *

Wife (dreamily): "Oh, Joe, remember it was on a night such as this that we met."
Husband: "Yeh, rotten night, ain't it?"
